

'What Girls Do' Exhibition by Linda Dry Parker

Art Nuvo Gallery Buderim - April 2015

Linda Dry Parker

Linda thinks of herself as an abstract colourist with a passion for the figure. She says colour is her form of abstract expression, while the figure connects her to reality. She begins her works by creating layers of colour, then introduces the female form – sometimes as a hint rather than an image, resulting in an intriguing mix of femininity and intimacy.

Linda completed her art degree at Newcastle University UK then studied post-graduate print making at Brighton College of Art, UK. And holds a B A Honours degree in painting and post grad in Printmaking. Her works are held in collections around the world.
